

NATIONAL SECURITY LAW JOURNAL

Come work in the exciting, evolving area of national security law.

Join us for one of our information sessions!

Tuesday, April 8th • 12:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m. • Room 225

Food and beverages will be provided, and all attendees will receive a small gift.

The National Security Law Journal (“NSLJ”) is a student-edited legal periodical published twice annually at George Mason School of Law. We print timely, insightful scholarship on pressing matters that further the dynamic field of national security law, including topics relating to foreign affairs, intelligence, and national defense.

NSLJ Fast Facts

- One of only three student-run law journals in the nation focused on national security
- Digital and print issue published each fall and spring
- Engaging events that complement our written publication, such as our recent symposium on NSA surveillance featuring former U.S. Attorney General Michael Mukasey

Why Join NSLJ?

- Small and selective group
- Publication opportunities for student notes
- Relatively new publication, offering exciting opportunities to shape our long-term future

How to Join

- Write-On: Submit completed write-on packet with optional résumé and statement of interest (recommended for all 1Ls, 2Ls, and 3Es)
- Publish-On: Submit a paper of publishable quality on a national security law topic (2Ls and 3Es only; submissions must meet “publishable quality” standard)

All 1Ls, 2Ls, and 3Es are encouraged to attend our information session.

Questions? Visit our website at www.nslj.org or contact us at info@nslj.org.